Supporters Will Nominate Rockefeller And Attempt To Stampede Convention

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's strategists aimed a well-heeled blitz today at the nearly impregnable wall Vice President Richard M. Nixon has built around the GOP presidential nomination.

A Rockefeller strategist said the decision had been made to place the New York governor's name in nomination before the Republican National Convention which opens Monday.

This move was reportedly approved by Rockefeller personally in a conference with his leaders which preceded a personal appearance before the party's platform committee Tuesday.

Attempt Stampede

The governor has said he is available for a draft but doesn't expect one to materialize.

The objective of the move appeared to be an attempted convention stampede such as supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson tried to engineer at the Los Angeles Democratic National Convention. Its chance for success seemed little greater than the abortive Stevenson push.

But Rockefeller's most enthusiastic supporters were talking in

Ask Reservations For Convention

Adams County School directors have been asked by the office of the county superintendent of schools to make reservations for next Tuesday for the annual convention picnic to be held Tuesday, August 2, at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, near Arendtsville.

The convention session will convene at 10:30 a.m. and the feature of the program will be a talk by Donald Treon, Sunbury, immediate past president of the Pennsylvania State School Directors' Association. He is also secretary of the Sunbury Joint School system.

Treon will speak on school taxes with special attention to the wage tax.

The noon meal will be served by the Ever Ready Sunday School Class of the Reformed Church of Arendtsville. Committees have been appointed to arrange for en-noun for the directors and their families.

MARIE COBLE WINS DISTRICT 4-H HONORS

Miss Marie Coble, 19-year-old 4-H club member from Aspers R. 1, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Coble, won the right Tuesday to represent the county in state contests at Penn State University in August.

In competition with 97 teams from 17 counties Tuesday at the Kutztown Fairgrounds, Miss Coble won a blue award and top honors in the vegetable garden division of a southeast district demonstration contest. She has been in 4-H work for eight years.

Five other girls from Adams County competed and came home with second and third place honors.

Accompanied By Leaders

Duane Duncan, assistant county farm agent, and Mrs. Helen Tunison, county home economist, accompanied the contestants to Kutztown.

Miss Coble, whose demonstration was titled "To Be or Not To Be" won an above-90 score from the three judges and a blue ribbon award. She will go to Penn State University from August 8 to 10 to compete for state-wide honors in 4-H demonstration contests.

Miss Mary Jane Bowman, McSherrystown, won a "red" award for her demonstration on "Clothing Selection." Her sister, Martha, also qualified for a white award in a demonstration on "Salads for Nutrition."

Other Competitors

Other county competitors on Tuesday included Helen Rex, Biglerville R. 1, who won a white award for a demonstration on electrical wiring. She and Miss Coble are members of the Aspers 4-H club.

Diana Bricker and Susan Bricker, both of York Springs R. 1, gave a home economics demonstration titled "Have Fun Baking Rolls." They won a white award.

Team scores from 70 to 80 points earned a white award; from 80 to 90, a red award, and from 90 to 100, a blue award.

RECEIVE DRAFT CALL

The Adams County draft board received a call for four men for induction and 15 for physical examination for the month of August. Both groups will leave by chartered bus at 7:30 a.m. August 16 for Harrisburg.

BLAME RARE DISEASE FOR BOY'S DEATH

Six weeks of scientific investigation in the laboratories of the Warner Hospital have blamed a rare condition of a lymph gland in the neck as the cause of death of Wesley Glenn Sanders, 17-year-old Fairfield High School graduate, who died suddenly while at work near Zora on June 7.

Sanders, who had been graduated from Fairfield High School in May and had been accepted for service in the U. S. Marine Corps in August, had gone to the Zora Hereford farm to work with a group of four other men. They were stacking baled hay in a barn and Sanders had been talking and joking with them when he fell to the ground and died.

An autopsy was ordered by Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, who today received from Dr. C. H. Johnson, Warner Hospital pathologist, the final report showing Sanders died of "acute gastro-enteritis associated with status thymicolymphaticus."

"Very Rare" Cause

Dr. Johnson told The Gettysburg Times the condition is a "very rare one" and the first encountered by the Warner Hospital laboratory.

"Thymicolymphaticus" was once thought to be a cause of sudden death, Dr. Johnson said, but now is believed to be related to other conditions. It involves the thymus gland and lymphoid tissue involved along with the adrenal glands, the pathologist explained.

Medical dictionaries describe the thymus as a "two-lobed body in the neck and thorax of an infant." It appears to be a true lymph gland, the dictionary says, and wastes away normally about the second year and usually has disappeared by the 13th year of a child's life. The gland, the dictionary says, seems to have a function in connection with the formation of blood.

Case Is "Closed"

The acute gastro-enteritis referred to in the report was described as inflammation of the gastro-intestinal tract or an upset stomach.

The funeral of young Sanders was held June 10 from the Wilson Funeral Home at Fairfield and he was buried in the Fairfield Union Cemetery.

Dr. Crist said he will sign the death certificate on the basis of Dr. Johnson's report and will mark the case "closed."

INJURED CHILD IS 'CRITICAL'

Three-year-old Zachary Weber, Emmitsburg R. 2 continues in critical condition in University Hospital, Baltimore, after head injuries sustained when he fell out of a barn loft onto a concrete barnyard base Saturday afternoon.

According to the boy's father, Harry B. Weber, his son has been unconscious since 7 o'clock Saturday evening. Weber said doctors told him "only prayers will pull your child through."

The youngster was playing with a five-year-old brother in the barn and fell out of the front mow doors into the barnyard which is covered with concrete. The fall was about 12 feet.

The child fell to the concrete beside a farm hand who rushed for aid and the injured boy was immediately taken to Warner Hospital from which he was shortly transferred to Baltimore.

Weber said the seriousness of the child's condition is aggravated by a hemophilic condition. Doctors said the boy had had considerable hemorrhaging of the brain area. This is the first time, the father said, that the child had suffered a serious injury.

Nixon In Front

Leonard W. Hall, Nixon's campaign manager without title, said that as a result of primary, convention and individual action around 1,100 of 1,331 delegate votes stand publicly committed to Nixon in one way or another.

No one, outside of a handful of Rockefeller enthusiasts, could fathom the mathematics by which this Nixon total could be reduced below the 666 needed for the nomination by even the most vigorous sort of draft operation.

Rockefeller might command most of New York's 96 votes in a showdown, but where others would come from remained a puzzle.

No Rigging Charge

The governor himself said he agreed that a majority of the delegates are pledged to Nixon. But he said on a taped television interview he doesn't charge that the convention is rigged.

Despite the seemingly insurmountable odds, Rockefeller's (Continued On Page 11)

Tuesday evening's showers amounted to nearly three quarters of an inch and sent July's rainfall total to 3.96 inches, which is one hundredth of an inch over normal rainfall for the entire month in Gettysburg. The overnight showers totaled 0.72 inches. It was the eighth day of rain.

Congo Cabinet Decides To Call Russian Force

By ROBERT N. LINDSAY

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—The Congo Cabinet decided today to appeal immediately to the Soviet Union to send troops to help restore order in the disturbed new republic.

The appeal also invited troops from "any other country to the Afro-Asian plan," presumably the nations that attended the Bandung conference in Indonesia in 1955. That would include Red China.

Making the announcement, at a news conference immediately after the Cabinet meeting, Premier Patrice Lumumba said the mission of these troops would be:

1. To effect the peaceful evacuation of Belgian soldiers from the Congo.
2. Assist in maintaining order in the country in conformity with government's decisions.
3. Prevent all foreign aggression.

The communiqué said the Cabinet decision was made because

COUNTY WILL HOLD MEETING ON ROUTE 15 NEXT WEEK

The Adams County commissioners announced today they will hold a county-wide hearing next Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the courtroom on the proposed bypass of Gettysburg by the relocation of Rt. 15.

In announcing the public meeting, the commissioners said it is being held to give anyone interested an opportunity to be heard. Board President E. Donald Scott pointed out that in one of the early conferences between the commissioners and the state highways Department on plans for the relocation of Rt. 15 from the Maryland line to a point where the present dual highway ends south of York Springs, the commissioners had proposed and insisted upon a public meeting when plans were developed for the new route.

Week Before State Hearing

The state Highways Department will have representatives here for the meeting and the group may include District Engineer Robert E. Eisminger. The commissioners have a letter from Eisminger confirming the date and promising to be in Gettysburg for the session.

The commissioners will be in charge of the meeting. The county-sponsored meeting will be held one week before the public hearing, the Highway Department has announced, for Eisenhower School here on August 3 when the "economic effects" of the proposed bypass will be considered.

Grant County Aid

Two citizens' groups have filed petitions at Harrisburg asking for the hearing. One group has asked a change in route for a section of the relocated highway and a second petition asks that announced plans for the new route be kept intact.

The county commissioners at their weekly meeting this morning made plans for the July 27 meeting, discussed furnishings for the new county home and voted $367.36 in county aid for street work to Abbotstown.

The commissioners will meet again this afternoon with President Scott presiding and Charles B. Bender in attendance. Commissioner Clarence J. Waybright did not attend this morning's meeting.

CYCLIST INJURED

Gerald Sartwell, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sartwell, Rocky Ridge, Md., was treated Tuesday at the Warner Hospital for bruise burns of the left foot and ankle received when his foot caught in a bicycle wheel.

OK PAINTING OF STREET LIGHTS

The Civic Improvement Committee of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Tuesday noon at the Dutch Cupboard approved a plan to paint and repair present light standards in Lincoln Square and the four main streets rather than make large expenditures for new standards.

A part of the committee's plan would be to increase the size of the bulbs now in use in the standards.

The committee expressed its opinion on the lighting question because work on renovating the standards is being held up while a proposal to install new standards of modern or antique design is being considered. The committee heard the cost estimate is $18,000.

The committee also voted to write the borough council suggesting that the town erect signs on the major roads leading into town announcing the fact that there is a college here. It was suggested that signs identifying the town as "The Home of Gettysburg College" would be sufficient.

PHONE JARGON HAS ODD RING IN DIRECTORY

There's a suspicion around town that the United Telephone Company was able to set up the lavish 12 pages of introductory instructions in the new directory from the space saved from dropping vowels and some pretty horrendous abbreviations elsewhere. Sometimes the directory looks like the synecopated speech of a kid who has lost his front teeth and can't say all the letters. Everything that is but the luscious United Telephone ad which prefaces the directory and which is the only page without one of the terse examples of telephonicese.

We've got "frt grws, meat mkts, excvgt contrs, nrsryman, gen mdse, carpet cling, ins and funer drs. But then we have gunsmith, fruit grower, box factory, wood work, fruit farm, electrician, trucker and nursery. What worries many is whether United is subtly undermining our social structure . . . sort of setting up its own register.

Agric, Implts, Hing

Is agric implts, hing, brbr shop, papr prod, phys, pltry, pavg contr and svcs sta a little less acceptable than physician, restaur, florist, lumber lawn mowers, grain and plumber? Is it that maybe plbr is slow with his bill? Or does he have a little house or an old car? Or maybe his dog bites linemen.

Good Standing

How does one move back into good standing? How do you rise from bty shp to beauty shop, for example? Do you need three operators or four? Is dntst less efficient than dentist? Have we jumped osteopath over phys? Isn't Jones' rest as friendly as restaurant or are the portions smaller?

What we need is the United code. So that we could tell whether we should take our business to turn mfrs or utnsl instead of garage or United Telephone Company of Pennsylvania or tea-room.

Are we more affluent on Springs Av., High and Franklin than on Lncln and Washngtn? Or are presidents on the down grade too? And is York superior to Hanvr? And how about Gett Hotel, Gett Hdwr and Gett Times but Biglerville National Bank, Benderville National Bank, Arendtsville Garage, Aspers Feed Store? Are we going to lose the county seat too? EXCHANGE TO HOLD ANNUAL JOINT SESSION

The Gettysburg Exchange Club, at its weekly meeting held in Sanders' Restaurant near Hunters-town, decided to invite the Hanover Club August 2 for their annual get-together. The Gettysburg Club last year visited in Hanover.

John Slentz, chairman of the interclub committee, reported he has received replies from three neighboring clubs in regard to an interclub meeting. Slentz said he has heard from the Chambersburg, Waynesboro and Shippensburg chapters and said that at the next week's meeting, he would invite two men from each club to talk over plans for an interclub picnic, likely at Caledonia. The tentative date was set for Aug. 9.

Millard Doyle, reporting for the house committee, said plans are progressing rapidly for the Whip party scheduled for August 16.

Plan "Old Timers" Night

It was decided to hold "Old-timers" night on August 23, inviting all past members who do not belong to any other civic club. John Codori, chairman of the Membership Committee, said the club now has 32 members and his committee is working on some good prospects.

Discussion on the ambulance fund took place after approval of the treasurer's report and it was decided to submit the issue of donating money to the fund of the board of control.

A thank-you note from President Crosby Hartzell was read to the members expressing his thanks to the individuals who helped serve dinner to the foreign exchange students last week at the Recreation Field.

About 20 members attended with Vice President Ralph K. Will presiding. Next week's meeting is tentatively scheduled for the Parkview Restaurant near Caledonia.

YORKER BURIED HERE

William F. Bellring, 68, 473 W. King St., York, who died Sunday at the Lebanon Veterans' Hospital, was buried today in the Gettysburg National Cemetery. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, York. A requiem mass was said at 9 a.m. Funeral services were held at the Dodson Funeral Home at 8:30 o'clock.

Rayford Lamar, migrant worker from Miami, Fla., was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Anna Thompson Tuesday for failing to display a red flag on an object that extended more than eight feet from the rear of the truck he was driving. The charge was lodged by the state police of the local substation.

Ike Okays Retaliation In Propaganda Slugfest With Kremlin Crisis Provokers

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported today to be all for a policy of American officials hitting back hard and fast at Kremlin propaganda onslaughts against the United States.

Word from the summer White House at Newport, R.I., was that the President had given a personal go-ahead on this at a conference there Tuesday with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and other key foreign policy advisers.

Much of the hitting back reportedly will be done through the United Nations, where U.S. and Soviet delegates have been sparing verbally this week over the Cuban situation.

Not Only U.N.

But Herter made it apparent on leaving the Newport meeting that not all of the return fire will originate in the U.N.

He promptly accused the Soviet Union of waging "a very provocative type" of an anti-American campaign. Asked by newsmen to speculate on the motives for the Soviet attitude, he said: "We take this attitude seriously and regard it as one we should give serious consideration to."

The Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce will attempt to unify and coordinate the wishes, expressions and desires of a number of interests relative to the proposed bypass of Gettysburg. The request that the Chamber "take charge" was made at a meeting of the Gettysburg Travel Council at the Horse and Buggy Museum, Harrisburg Rd., Tuesday evening.

The Chamber was asked to call a meeting of representatives of the Travel Council and several "group" factions which have asked the highways department for a hearing on the bypass and to attempt to present a unified front at the hearing scheduled for August 3.

It was reported at the meeting that Highway Department representatives will meet with the Adams County Commissioners on the bypass issue on Thursday.

Atty. John MacPhail, representing one faction, opened the bypass section of the meeting by displaying a map showing the reported bypass route. He said it was not official but was as close as his group could come to spotting the new route. He said several petitions had been filed with the Highway Department and that a hearing will be held August 3 on the matter. He said that Gettysburg should unite its forces and present a solid front at the hearing or "everything will be lost."

MacPhail said that the route, unofficially, would begin at a point near York Springs and run parallel with the present Rt. 15, cross the Hunterstown Rd. one fourth of a mile east of Schriver's Corners (five miles north of Gettysburg) and then continue south crossing the Lincoln Highway east about one and one-half miles east of Gettysburg where a half-diamond and a cloverleaf would be built. He said it would then cross the Hanover or Bonneauville Rd. where another half-diamond and cloverleaf egress would be built and cross the Baltimore Rd. and the Taneytown Rd. with a full diamond and then merge with Rt. 15 south one mile from the Maryland line.

He explained that he understood there would be four exits off the bypass but that the first between York Springs and Gettysburg would be off the Lincoln Highway intersection east of town.

$1.1 BUDGET SURPLUS IS MADE PUBLIC

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower today announced a $1,100,000,000 budget surplus for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The surplus is more than five times as large as the figure the President predicted last January.

"This demonstration of fiscal responsibility not only reinforces economic strength here at home, but reaffirms to the world that the United States intends to run its financial affairs on a sound basis," Eisenhower said in a statement at the summer White House.

The announcement, coming just a few days in advance of the opening of the GOP National Convention, is sure to be seized on with delight by Republicans in their campaign to retain the presidency and capture control of Congress.

3rd Surplus in 7 Years
This was the Eisenhower administration's third budget surplus in seven years.

In Washington it was reported that unexpected gains in the personal income of Americans, boosting federal individual income tax collections, contributed most of the revenue increase.

Corporation taxes yielded less handsomely, owing to the decline in business profits caused by the long steel strike last summer and fall. But even the profit figure was better than many had expected six months ago. At that time some officials feared the fiscal year would wind up in red ink.

RAMOS ELATED WITH VICTORY

By DAVE DILES

Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Pedro Ramos lost a no-hitter by one bounce of a ground ball and figures it is just as well.

"I don't know what it is," said the Washington Senators' pitcher in the best English he could muster, "but something seems to happen to pitchers who pitch no-hitters. They just seem to go poof!"

A ground ball by Detroit outfielder Rocky Colavito leading off in the eighth inning prevented Ramos from gaining baseball immortality Tuesday night in Briggs Stadium. It was the first pitch of the inning — one Ramos described as "a 100 per cent fast ball — but just a little bit higher than I wanted it."

Made Wrong Loop

Colavito knocked it between the mound and shortstop Jose Valdivielso, who made a great try for the ball.

"He could have had it, but it took a long leap instead of another short hop," said Detroit's manager, Jimmie Dykes. "If ever a guy deserved a no-hitter, this guy did. I told Luke Appling (Tiger coach) as early as the third inning that we were in for an unpleasant evening."

The Senators won the game 5-0, as Ramos struck out nine batters and yielded no hits other than Colavito's single.

Defense Stocks Strong On Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Space age defense stocks were strong in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The growing tenseness of the international situation was cited by brokers as the reason for the rise of aircraft-missile and rocket stocks.

Gains of a point or more were made by a wide assortment of defense issues. A few electronics and other "growth" issues followed along.

Steels, autos, and chemicals were ragged but oils, rails, and nonferrous metals had a higher trend.

The market as a whole still was nervous and hesitant.

Steel Consumption May Continue Low

NEW YORK (AP)—A low rate of business among major steel consumers is one factor in the steel operating rate decline since early this year, says Iron Age Magazine.

The national metalworking weekly said inventory control and a summer lull should not be discounted as causes of the slump, but added there were "deeper" factors.

"Basic factors behind the low rate of production will keep steel operations at a low rate through the summer and into autumn," the publication said Tuesday.

$500 AUTO CRASH

Damage totaled $500 when two cars collided on the Carlisle Pike near the Bethlehem Stone Company quarry Monday afternoon, state police at Gettysburg reported. Police said that a car driven by Clarence W. Weaver, Hanover, was hit on the rear right fender by a car driven by Harry H. Swell, New Oxford R. 2, after Weaver had pulled onto the highway. Damage was estimated at $300 to Weaver's car and $200 to Swell's.

Boneyard Bound Destroyer Had Just Unloaded Ship's Explosives Before Crash

By PATRICK MCNULTY

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Patrick Medeiros, bow lookout aboard the freshly refitted destroyer Collett, peered anxiously into fog as thick as cotton candy. His ship seemed to be gliding blindly through a cloud.

Suddenly Medeiros screamed into his microphone: "Ship dead ahead!"

An instant later the newly painted bow of the Collett smashed into the destroyer Ammen, a kamikaze-scarred veteran on its way to the boneyard.

Awesome Sounds
Then Medeiros, 19, of Honolulu, heard the awesome sounds of disaster at sea—frantic shouts, the clanging of bells, death screams, the hiss of steam, and the rip and tear of steel.

Medeiros escaped with a bruised thigh, but 11 other Navy men died in the collision Tuesday. At least 20 others were hurt, but only six were hospitalized.

Explosives Unloaded

The Ammen, heading for San Diego and deactivation, had just unloaded her explosives at nearby Seal Beach. Otherwise both ships could have been blown out of the water.

The 376-foot Collett left her bow anchor embedded in the Ammen's twisted superstructure and carried off a crushed Ammen seaman in the fan-like wreckage of her own bow.

When the bow lookout first yelled, the Collett's skipper, Cmdr. A. T. Ford of St. Petersburg, Fla., shouted from the bridge: "All engines back full. Right full rudder!"

Ammen Casualties

Too late. The Collett, apparently in a turn, struck the Ammen's port side below the waterline just astern of amidships, then slid up and smashed into the superstructure. Those killed were all aboard the Ammen and had been working in two offices above deck.

COPTER SAVES MAN HANGING FROM WINDOW

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP)—As thousands watched in horror, a gravely injured man clung to a window high in a burning grain elevator Tuesday and begged: "Help me! Help me! I'm burning to death!"

After two hours of desperate maneuvering, a helicopter finally dropped a cable and a former steeplejack descended to save him.

The drama followed two thundering explosions which ripped a giant grain storage elevator and sent flames raging for hours through the 180-foot high structure.

Three Are Dead

Three men died and another was missing and presumed dead. Five others were injured.

One of the victims, Paul Aiken, about 32, of Brownfield, his clothes flaming, leaped 50 feet from near the top of the elevator to a landing in an attempt to avoid burning to death. He died a short time after arriving at a hospital.

Others listed as dead were Royce Lawhorn, about 50, and Henry Nix, about 24, both of Brownfield.

Missing In Debris

Missing and presumed buried in the debris was C. L. Burden, age unknown, of Brownfield. Elevator Mgr. V. N. Lewallen said Burden was working in the elevator at the time of the explosion "and I don't see how he could be alive."

Firemen blamed exploding grain dust for the disaster. The helicopter that saved Philip Reeves, of Cotton Valley, La., came from Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock, 35 miles northeast of here. Donald Ethington, ex-steeplejack of Brownfield, assisted in the rescue.

He also stressed that it was the obligation of the state to enlarge its traffic lanes into the towns and cities where visitors want to go and not make it difficult for these visitors to reach their intended destination. He said that Gettysburg is one of the objectives of millions of visitors and that everything should be done to make access to Gettysburg easy, pleasant and safe.

Bypass Opposition

He also interjected a surprising note when he asked "Who wants the bypass?" He said he felt that the state should modernize Rt. 15 into a three or four-lane highway directly into Gettysburg and then setup a bypass for heavy vehicles that are not headed for Gettysburg. He said this would relieve the traffic problem in Gettysburg considerably.

One businessman said, "If we barred parking on Carlisle and Baltimore Sts. we wouldn't need a bypass."

When Walter B. Lane, president of the Travel Council, who presided, was asked where the council stood on the bypass he said that the Travel Council had named a committee some time ago to ask the Highway Department about the bypass and also for a hearing. He said that he felt that the time had come where he did not think the Highway Department would change the bypass route.

"Historic Gettysburg"

Another suggestion was advanced that the state be asked to use "Historic Gettysburg" on all its directional signs.

It was also suggested that the state be asked to abandon the bypass construction until after 1963, anticipating heavy traffic during the next three years.

There was some suggestion on asking for a bypass west of the present Rt. 15 instead of east.

Consensus View

The consensus was that the bypass, if one is to be constructed, include interchanges as close to Gettysburg as possible and that the road also be built near enough to the battlefield so that visitors could see some of the memorials while passing through.

At a business meeting it was reported that 2,528 parties visited the Travel Council office during June; 462 asked for guides and that the visitation totaled 9,307. Proportionately this was considerably more than during June last year. All the slips signed by visitors were made available to members to be used as mailing lists, if they wish, Lane said.

The new signs were reported completed.

Request Rates

Lane suggested that members consider the possibility of furnishing the room and meal rates for future promotion. He said many write and ask for rates but that they are not furnished.

Gettysburg will be host to the next meeting of the five area travel committee representatives September 26.

Lane also reported the following items: The supply of folders is exhausted; the council may ask the state to furnish more funds to publicize the state attractions; Gettysburg may have its own booth in the New York City area; a full-time administrator is almost a necessity now; the guest book must be revised; the need to encourage more enthusiasm and interest in the immediate area and present some kind of a "fun" program, and that the Hotel Gettysburg press room had been made available for such an affair.

William Shoemaker reported that the recent Pickett's Charge re-enactment was "very successful" and that it would be repeated in 1961 and 1963.

A cooperative folder distribution between Gettysburg and Williamsburg seems a certainty, Lane said.

Lions Club Will Hold Broom Sale

President Ralph F. Irelan presided at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish Hall with 20 members present, at which it was decided to have a broom sale in the near future. The brooms will be ordered from a Taneytown manufacturer and the proceeds from the sale will be used for the club's community work fund. The annual picnic will be held in August. William G. Morgan gave a progress report on the Horse Show which will be held September 18.

Dr. D. L. Beegle, chairman of the old eyeglasses drive, announced the drive was completed but that if any citizen had any old glasses about their homes they would still be accepted. The glasses will be shipped to Lions International for world wide distribution to indigent families and individuals. Discussed also was a sale of used clothing for migrant workers. Vice President William Morgan, a member of the Employment Security Office in Frederick, reported there were hundreds of migrants in the county at this time of the year, and they were in need of used clothing. The club decided to undertake this project in the near future.

Letter To The Editor

July 17, 1960
12 Fiske Street
Portsmouth, Va.

Dear Mr. Roy:

We visit relatives in your city twice a year. While visiting this past week, we discovered you had installed parking meters on the street beside their home. But we had no idea what time we were suppose to put money in because they had no time on any of them we looked at. At home here we have 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. stamped on all of ours. Friday evening a policeman came by at 8:30 p.m. and gave the car in front of us a ticket. Fortunately, we had money in ours, but if we hadn't we don't see how you can give an out of state car a ticket when no time is stamped on the meter. We think somebody ought to get on the ball, don't you?

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Charles R. Weikert

Betsy Rawls Is Tourney Favorite

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Betsy Rawls, a determined, enthusiastic veteran, today jumped into the favorite's spot in the U.S. Women's Open Golf Tourney when defending Champion Mickey Wright wrenched a knee.

Miss Wright, the hard-hitting San Diego, Calif., product who won the last two Open tournaments, complained of the knee in a practice round Tuesday morning, was administered a shot of cortisone and left the Worcester Country Club course early.

With Miss Wright sub-par physically, most attention shifted to Miss Rawls.

"I want this one so bad I can taste it," Betsy said after completing her heavy practice for the tourney that opens Thursday.

Today's Talk

"GOOD EVENING — FRIENDS"
There used to be a most interesting feature on TV, managed by Major Bowes. They called it an Amateur Hour. Many a now famous person got his or her first start to fame on this program. I thought of this inspiring hour as I went to my library for the evening (now it's "Good evening, Books"), for a book is a personality that can influence and bless millions!

Books travel, too—to the ends of the world, and keep influencing people all the way. In silence a book talks to us, and we feel its comfort and blessing the moment we take it into our hands. The feel of a book may be the feel of thousands of lovers of books, for it cheers and warms hearts endlessly.

You can enter the area of a book and make it yours. It is a matter of choice. If you are lonely, tired, or confused, meet an inspiring book, and immediately you have a friend. And that friend will never desert you. It can introduce you to scores of other book friends. That's how simple the path to a great book can be.

For as long as you live a great book can add to your sense of beauty and it can talk intimately to you, no matter where you may be. So it is now, as I enter my library the greeting is: "Good evening—Friends."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Smooth Things Along"

Just Folks

WHEN IT'S BAD
When a pretty girl is surly
Or a tidy girl grows sloppy,
When a sea that's like a molly pond
Unexpectedly gets choppy,
When a real good fellow cusses
And displays a temper frightful,
Or a friend who's always proper Spoils an evening that's delightful
By a bit of careless conduct,
It makes a thinking people sad;
But the saddest of all sadness,
And the saddest of all badness
Is the ball team when it's bad.

It seems worse when one of beauty
Speaks a sharp and bitter word
Than it does when one less charming
In a fit of rage is heard.
And somehow, the shock is greater
When a real good fellow cusses
Than it is when it is done by
One who's always starting fusses.

But there's nothing quite so shocking,
Or that leaves us quite so sad,
As the ball team feebly sticking,
Muffling throws or grounders
kicking—
Then it does look mighty bad.

YANKS, WHITE SOX KEEP PACE IN JUNIOR LOOP

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
The American League pennant race is a study in contrasts. While the New York Yankees bludgeoned the opposition with home runs, flexing their muscles to make up for faulty pitching, the Chicago White Sox play it cute with speed and tight pitching.

The Yanks maintained their two-game lead over the second-place White Sox by scoring five in the ninth to top Cleveland 13-11 Tuesday night. Chicago cashed in on Billy Pierce's four-hit pitching and a three-run inside home run by speedy Luis Aparicio for a 6-0 triumph over Boston.

One-Hit Shutout
Pedro Ramos pitched no-hit ball for seven innings and wound up with a one-hit shutout as Washington downed Detroit 5-0. The only hit was a lead-off single by Rocky Colavito in the eighth inning.

Baltimore came up with six runs in the 10th inning to top Kansas City 9-3, with Bud Daley's wild pitch permitting the tie-breaking run to score.

Bill Skowron was the big gun for the powerful Yanks with two home runs and a three-run double during the five-run rally in the ninth.

Roger Maris hit his 30th homer, and Yogi Berra connected for No. 10 in the wild game marked by a total of 32 hits, 16 for each side. Six pitchers worked for the Yanks. Ryne Duren finally getting the decision. Ted Bowsfield, fourth of five to toil for the Indians, was the loser. Jimmy Piersall hit his 10th homer for the Tribe.

Five In Ninth
Trailing 11-8 going to the ninth, the Yanks loaded the bases on a walk to Hector Lopez, a single by Mickey Mantle, and an error by Bowsfield. Berra's single scored one and Skowron's double drove in three more. Tony Kubek singled in the final run. The defeat dropped Cleveland 3½ games off the pace.

Aparicio's dash around the bases on a ball that got past center fielder Willie Tasby was the big story of Chicago's offense. Pierce, winning his eighth, beat Boston for the third time. Frank Sullivan was his victim.

Baltimore held a 3-0 lead over the As going to the last of the seventh when Pete Daley's three-run homer tied the score against Chuck Estrada. Hoyt Wilhelm came in to pitch 3-1 hitless innings of relief ball, winning his seventh. Bud Daley lost his sixth.

CARDS MISPLAY INFIELD RIDGE IN MILWAUKEE

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves are getting the right bounce of the ball in their red-hot bid to overhaul first-place Pittsburgh in the National League pennant fight.

The Braves extended their winning streak to six games and cooled off St. Louis by defeating the Cardinals 9-5 last night with the assist of tricky bouncers which paved the way to three unearned runs.

The Cardinals had trouble with a ridge at the edge of the infield grass and committed three errors while also allowing as many infield hits. The Braves had trouble on grounders, too, but escaped unscathed except for a bump on the head suffered by shortstop Johnny Logan.

Actual Ridge
"It's an actual ridge all around the infield grass," Logan said. "We didn't know how to play a grounder because when the ball hit the ridge—zoom. We didn't know where it was going."

The Braves picked up a pair of runs without a hit in the second when Ken Boyer, one of baseball's top fielding third basemen, committed a pair of errors. Boyer's miscues upset St. Louis right-hander Bob Gibson, who uncorked two wild pitches in a row. The second run came across on a sacrifice fly.

Milwaukee added three more runs in the fifth. An error by second baseman Julian Javier and an infield hit set up the scoring.

Hits Ridge

The ball took the right bounce for the Braves again in the ninth. The Cards had runners on first and second with one out when Curt Flood rapped a hard grounder which hugged the grass as it sped down the third base line.

Then it hit the ridge and jumped right into Eddie Mathews' glove for a force-out at third.

"We won, but one game like that is enough," said Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen. "You had to hold your breath on every grounder. I spoke to the ground crew right after the game and that ridge will be eliminated in the morning."

Irate Fan Slugs Ump; Finally Subdued By 12

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Home plate umpire Bob Stewart felt a tap on his shoulder and turned around.

Next thing he knew, he was lying on the ground. An irate fan had come out on the field and belted him. Other fans in Municipal Stadium howled their approval.

The incident happened during the 10th inning of Tuesday night's baseball game between the Baltimore Orioles and the Kansas City Athletics.

The score was tied 3-all. There was one out and two Orioles were on base. Stewart ruled that batter Walt Dropo was hit by Bud Daley's pitch and motioned him to first, filling the bases.

Stewart Stands Firm
The A's protested that the ball hit Dropo's bat. But Stewart wasn't to be swayed and the Orioles went on to score six runs and win the game 9-3.

As the teams changed sides for the last of the 10th inning, field Michael Owens invaded the field and floored Stewart. Owens, a husky six-footer, then punched an usher who intervened. It took the four umpires, two Civil Defense patrolmen, an auxiliary policeman, a few more ushers and three policemen to subdue him.

"All right, boys," said Owens as he finally surrendered. "I've had my fun now. I'm willing to pay for it. I'll go quietly."

He was jailed on charges of resisting arrest, creating a public disturbance, starting a riot and entering the playing field illegally. Umpire Ed Hurley wound up with three spike wounds in his right forearm which required medical treatment.

Tankers Wallop Bel Air Outfit

The Tankers of the New Oxford Little League walloped the Untouchables, a Little League team from Bel Air, Md., 21-10 in an exhibition game Saturday at New Oxford.

Larry Phiel and Frank Moore starred for the winners, both at the plate and on the mound. Phiel blasted a pair of home runs, a double and two singles and drove in nine runs for six trips to the plate. Moore hit an inside-the-park four bagger and three singles for six at bats.

Phiel tossed the first five innings for New Oxford, striking out 10, walking five and giving up only one hit. Moore hurled the last four frames. Bel Air utilized the services of four pitchers. H. Hoffmaugle and V. Whedbee each collected a pair of safeties for the losers.

Major League Expansion Poses Problem For Clubs

NEW YORK (AP)—How, where and where are the big problems facing the major baseball leagues today, now that expansion is a virtual certainty.

The National League wants each circuit to take in two new clubs. The American favors only one additional club. Branch Rickey wants eight new clubs in the form of a third league, the Continental.

Rickey, president of the embryo Continental, said he was surprised that any member of the National League favors internal expansion, meaning enlargement instead of acceptance of a new league.

Indemnity Demands
He pointed out the only deterrent to the Continental League is what he termed the unreasonable indemnity demands of the American Assn. and the International League.

Rickey has agreed to meet with committees of the two major leagues to discuss the whole expansion issue. Donald Grant, president of the New York club of the Continental League, said he sees the National League action as "an opening wedge in the ultimate solution, at least 24 big league teams."

It is apparent the Continental League sponsors aren't going to give up without a fight and are optimistic despite the fact the National League voted for only a two-team expansion and isn't thinking in terms of a new league.

Hank Greenberg of the Chicago White Sox, a member of the American League's three-man Expansion Committee, touched on one problem which might determine the extent of expansion — manpower. He is convinced there aren't enough big league prospects to stock four new teams, let alone a new league.

Prospective Cities
The cities which are considered ripe prospects in case of limited expansion are New York, Houston, Toronto, and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Of these, New York seems reasonably certain to land a franchise, particularly as blueprints for a new stadium call for completion of the park in 1962. The club probably would be able to play either in Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds in the meantime.

Los Angeles also is a prospect for an American League entry after the Dodgers have their own park in Chavez Ravine. Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers is known to favor the idea. The Chavez Ravine park isn't expected to be ready before 1962, however.

So availability of parks could be a factor as to when expansion goes into effect.

Rookie Hurls One-Hitter In First Start To Bounce Phils For Giants; Fans 12

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Juan Marichal, 21, a rookie from the Dominican Republic, has become the first National League pitcher in modern days to pitch a one-hitter in his first big league start.

The 5-10 right-hander who was the strikeout king of the Pacific Coast League until he was recalled from Tacoma with an 11-5 record, had a perfect game for 6 1-3 innings Tuesday night for San Francisco. An error by Eddie Bressoud let the Phils' Tony Taylor reach base.

Marichal lost his no-hit bid when pinch hitter Clay Dalrymple singled with two out in the eighth. The newcomer struck out 12, only three short of the record that the Dodgers' Karl Spooner set in his first start in 1954.

First Since 1900
No other National League pitcher in modern days, since 1900, has thrown a one-hitter in his first start. Charles Jones of Cincinnati pitched a no-hitter in his major league debut in 1884. Two American Leaguers have broken in with one-hitters, Addie Joss of Cleveland and Mike Fornieles of Washington.

Milwaukee sliced Pittsburgh's league lead to 1 1/2 games by winning its sixth straight on a 9-5 decision over St. Louis, while Pittsburgh was losing to Los Angeles 5-4. Cincinnati whipped Chicago 4-1 behind Jim O'Toole in the other game.

Marichal's performance could be a tonic to the floundering Giants who have dropped into the second division. Mixing a change-up with curves and fast balls, he mowed down the first 19 Phils.

Dalrymple, batting for catcher Cal Neuman with two out in the eighth, hit Marichal's first pitch

PALMER READY AS PGA OPENS AT AKRON CLUB

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The biggest field in Professional Golfers Assn. history had a free ride coming today, a final practice round before the chips go down in the 42nd championship.

The free stroll gives the group of champions, ex-champions and hopefuls one last chance to find the answers to a flock of questions the revamped 7,165-yard par-70 Firestone Country Club course will ask in the $60,000 four-day 72-hole marathon starting Thursday and ending Sunday.

Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., who would like to add this one to his National Open and Masters titles and the $9,000 top prize to his year's earnings of $66,603, may have found the answers Tuesday.

Palmer in Form
Arnie, who won the 1957 Rubber City Open over this same acreage but far from the same course, fired a torrid 35-31-66 Tuesday. Since his 1957 win the course has added 40 sand traps, two new greens, two lakes and some yardage and lost a stroke in par.

But Palmer, after a couple of probing practice rounds, went out Tuesday to give the new layout a real try. He three-putted the second hole for a bogey and the fourth for a double bogey and was three over par at the end of four, then he suddenly caught fire.

He birdied the fifth from 15 feet, the seventh from 3, the eighth from 20, the 10th from 20, the 11th from 10, the 12th from 7, and the 15th from 15 feet.

Is Confident
Asked why he didn't save the 66 for the tournament opener, confident Palmer grinned and answered, "I can do it again."

If he does he could run away with the tournament, for no one else has been burning up the course. Dow Finsterwald had a 64 for 17 holes but quit when a heavy rainstorm swept over the rolling tree-infested course. Bob Goaly had a 69 for the day's only other subpar performance.

The field going for the crown held by Bob Rosburg is a talent-laden one. Despite the withdrawal of former PGA king Gene Sarazen, Johnny Revolta, and Paul Runyan, there are still 15 former winners along with seven ex-National Open champions competing for the big prize.

The Williamsport Grays knew exactly what to do to snap their four-game losing streak. Call on Norm Camp.

Camp (8-4) pitched a five-hitter Tuesday night to defeat Springfield 4-1 and rack up his fourth victory of the year against the Grays. The victory hiked the Grays' Eastern League lead to four games over the second place Grays.

After both teams scored single runs in the eighth, the Grays rallied for three runs off reliever Bob Quinn (2-4) in the ninth. Lee Elia's double sent across the winning run.

In other games, Allentown defeated Reading 4-1 and Lancaster beat Binghamton 16-15 in 11 innings.

Bill Thom (11-4) pitched his fourth straight victory over Reading, giving up five hits. Bob Foster's two-run homer in the second was enough to win it for Allentown. Bill Fazekas (9-7) was the loser.

Giant Rookie Hurler Lets Writer Keep Statistics As He Works On Hitters

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal, the Giants' rookie right-hander, came within 1 1/3 innings last night of pitching a no-hitter in his first major league game, a feat last performed in 1892.

Not until pinch hitter Clay Dalrymple singled to center with two out in the eighth did the Philadelphia Phillies hit safely off the 21-year-old from the Dominican Republic and that was all as the Giants won 2-0.

Back in 1892, one Charles Jones hurled a no-hitter in his debut with Cincinnati and the record books show only two pitchers with one-hitters in their initial major league outings — Adrian Joss for Cleveland in 1902 and Mike Fornieles for Washington in 1952. But Marichal was the first National League pitcher to break in with a one-hitter.

Had No Idea
"I don't think about the no-hitter," said Juan after his victory. "I've never pitched one and I don't worry about it."

Neither did he know he had 12 strikeouts against a single walk. But he couldn't help knowing the Candlestick crowd of 13,279 liked it. With not too much to cheer about in recent weeks as the Giants dropped to fifth place, the fans roared their approval of the young hurler.

Marichal needed only 115 pitches for his victory. He was sparing with words too.

Wanted To Win

"No."
"No, I wanted to win."

Manager Tom Sheehan, the 65-year-old former major league hurler, beamed his approval of the newcomer.

"He's got good common sense out there. He knew enough to throw sidearm to those right-handed hitters, and they didn't like it," Tom allowed.

He said Juan's next start will be against league leading Pittsburgh on Saturday.

The 185-pounder came to the Giants as the Pacific Coast League strikeout king with only two previous years of organized baseball experience. He posted a 21-8 record with Michigan City in the Midwest League in 1958 and

Larker Switches To Heavy Bat And Average Swells

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In a day when most major league players are going to lighter bats, Norm Larker has decided to go the opposite direction.

The consequences of this departure may not prove anything, but the fact is that Larker today is hitting better than anyone else in the National League.

The balding, blond, Los Angeles first baseman raised his average to .359 last night by hitting a game-winning two-run homer and two singles as the Dodgers tripped league-leading Pittsburgh 5-4 and vaulted into third place.

Light Bat
"One time this season," Larker said, "my average went down below .300. I was using a light bat, about 30 or 31 ounces, and I was choking up a couple of inches."

"But I wasn't getting good wood on the ball so one day I said the hell with it and got a bigger bat—32 or 33 ounces—and started holding it down on the end."

"There was no particular reason. I just thought I'd use a different bat and see what happened. Right away I started getting line drives and more hits."

Larker got his decisive homer last night in the seventh just after the Pirates puled right-hander Bob Friend and sent in southpaw Fred Green.

"With that short screen out there in left field," Norm said, "I figured they'd send in (Gil) Hodges to hit for me."

But Dodger Manager Walt Alston saw right-handed relief ace Elroy Face warming up. He had to decide whether he'd rather have Hodges, a .177 hitter, going up against Face, or Larker facing Green. Whatever the percentages, he found the right answer.

Second Homer
Larker's homer was only his second of the season and his first ever off a left-hander in the majors.

"I don't go for the long ball," he said, "and this one was just an accident."

The victory was the Dodgers' 17th in 23 games. It left them just six games back of the Pirates and 4 1/2 behind second-place Milwaukee.

Friend hasn't beaten the Dodgers since June 23, 1958, but it appeared for a while that he might finally elude the whammy.

The Pirates gave him a 4-0 lead in the first four innings. Bill Vardon driving in three of the runs with a homer and a double and scoring the other.

But Friend, who has failed to pitch a complete game against Los Angeles in 14 starts, ran into foul circumstances in the sixth. The Dodgers picked up two runs in that inning on three hits, one a single by Larker.

Friend gave up another run in the seventh before Green came on and Larker homered with Jim Gilliam aboard.

PA. ECONOMY THREATENED BY MACHINE TAX

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Putting machinery back on the tax rolls will drive industry out of Pennsylvania and threaten the state's economy, claim representatives of two business organizations.

Spokesmen for the Smaller Manufacturer's Council and the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Pittsburgh testified Tuesday before an eight-man task force of the Joint State Government Commission.

The task force is conducting a series of hearings to determine whether the 1961 session of the State Legislature should amend a 1968 act removing machinery from the tax rolls.

Would Shift Burden
Both business organizations strongly recommended that no attempt be made to define machinery specifically in the legislation.

Atty. Don M. Birch of the Manufacturer's Council said the removal of machinery from the tax rolls has provided a more favorable climate for industry in the state.

Chamber of Commerce President William F. Chase testified the taxing machinery "paces entirely too great a burden on business and industry."

Hits Individual
Meanwhile, representatives from the Allegheny County communities of Duquesne, North Braddock, Rankin, Swissvale and West Mifflin urged repeal of the 1968 state law.

Social Security

Q. I have worked many years as a professional musician although I am totally blind. Work is now scarce and my yearly earnings are much lower than they used to be. Can I have my social security account frozen? I understand that this would keep my future benefits from being reduced because of my present lack of work.

A. Contact your social security office. They will explain the effect of a disability freeze in your case. A person who is totally blind, unlike persons with other types of disabilities, may have his social security record frozen even though he is able to work, but you will have to file an application.

Q. My disability claim was denied last year because my disability was not severe enough. My condition has become worse. Can I do anything about my social security now?

A. You should contact your social security office. Your present condition may be severe enough. Your social security office will assist you in filing a new claim.

Q. I worked under social security 10 years until I became disabled. The doctor said there have been forced to raise taxes on individuals to make up for the loss of revenue. said Atty. Leo Kostman, representing North Braddock, Swissvale and Rankin. Edward A. Fatula, solicitor for Duquesne schools, said the loss of money caused his district to raise taxes by five mills in two years.

was no treatment or cure for my condition. My M.D. is deceased so I do not have medical evidence as required for social security.

A. You should contact the social security office. They may be able to suggest other sources of medical evidence and help you get other information to support your claim.

Q. I have just been put on disability pension. Must I wait six months from now before I can claim and receive disability insurance benefits? I am 35.

A. You should contact your social security office at once. They will explain the six-month requirements and assist you to file your claim. The six-month waiting period is counted from the last date you were able to work as determined from your medical and other records. However you do not have to wait the full six months before you file your claim.

Q. My husband is totally disabled with a nervous disorder. I cannot persuade him to go to the social security office because strange persons and places upset him. Can I file on his behalf for social security?

A. You should contact your social security office. They will assist your husband in filing an application, or if he is unable, they will assist you in filing on his behalf.

KILLED BY CAR

MILLERSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Mark B. Leonard, 19, Ickesburg, Perry County, was killed Tuesday when his car left the road and overturned on Route 5012, 11 miles west of here.

State police said Leonard apparently lost control of the vehicle.

Sinatra Denies Parking Lot Row

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The city attorney's office says it will decide today if any charges will be filed against Frank Sinatra as the aftermath of a row with a parking lot attendant.

Sinatra denied at a hearing Tuesday that he had pushed Edward E. Moran, 21, at a Hollywood night club of last May 14. Moran told a previous hearing held by the city attorney that Sinatra shoved him, then called on an acquaintance, John Hopkins, for help.

Hopkins, Moran said, hit him five or six times with his fists. Sinatra said he had stepped off a curb when a car driven by another attendant "screamed to a stop six inches from me."

"I was shaken," the singer related, "and I started to berate the driver when Moran came up. He came towards me and I put up my hands to keep him away, but I didn't shove him."

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pittsburgh's recruiting effort was tops in the nation during the fiscal year ended July 1, the Air Force recruiting headquarters here said Tuesday.

Swimming To Begin

The annual two weeks of swimming instructions, in charge of the American Red Cross swimming program, will begin on Monday at Crouse's Pool, near town, and conclude on August 5. The Cubs will gather in the rear of the E. King St. school building about 8:45 a.m. Interested parents are requested to provide transportation. HISTORIANS TO HELP IN TRIAL

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli prosecutors preparing for the trial of Adolf Eichmann, 54, are being assisted by historians who have compiled the world's most complete library on anti-Semitism and Nazi war crimes.

The ex-Nazi colonel, charged with masterminding the slaughter of six million Jews, is unwittingly contributing to the giant records.

Daily Eichmann is called before Bureau 06 for interrogation. This bureau is a special 20-man police team assigned to the case after Eichmann was tracked down in Argentina and brought back to Israel for trial.

Thousands Of Documents

At the same time a group of Israeli experts continues to supply a constant flow of Eichmann material to the bureau. These experts on World War II history, with particular reference to the Jewish problems, are working in the office of Yad Vashem. The organization has thousands of original documents on persecution of the Jews and an enormous microfilm laboratory of documents used in the Nurnberg and other war crimes trials.

Dr. Aryeh Kubovy, Yad Vashem's chairman, said further collection of Eichmann material may take five more months, setting back his trial to 1961.

Hear Arguments On Rail Merger Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today hears the final pro and con arguments on the proposed merger of the Erie and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad companies.

Following a short-cut procedure requested by the two companies, the full membership of the commission was called to listen to about three hours of oral presentations in the case.

Ordinarily, the proposal would have been reviewed by a three-man division before going to the full commission, but the ICC recently authorized omission of this step.

The Erie and the Lackawanna proposed, through a stock exchange to bring together their routes — to be known as the Erie-Lackawanna System.

FIGURES SHOW ECONOMY BOOM MOVES UPWARD

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—If you believe the figures you not only never had it so good you are better off even than you thought.

That's because the official figures are being revised upward again.

New ones by the Department of Commerce show that the total output and income of Americans was higher in 1959 than first reported and that currently they are running better than first estimates indicated. Both are at record highs.

Despite Strike
All of this despite last year's steel strike and this year's slowdown in factory output and employment—despite a drop in farm income and a rise in total unemployment.

The output figures—which some economists warn are only guesses—are those of the department's measuring rod of the economy, the Gross National Product. This is the dollar-value of all goods and services produced in the nation.

The department since 1932 has been collecting what statistics it can and then issuing a preliminary estimate. This is revised later as more complete data come in. And after a further revision is necessary—as in the present case. The changes in GNP reflect both the growth or decline of unit output and the rise or fall in prices.

Still An Estimate
Still, even the final revision remains an estimate.

The department tries from time to time to better its collection of data with new methods and weigh its estimates to accord with changing conditions.

But even with the admitted margin for error, GNP remains the government statistic most closely watched by business in gauging the present and planning the future. And in this election year it is more closely watched by politicians than usual.

Billion Gain
The new estimate shows the annual rate for GNP in the first three months of this year as a gain of a billion over the first guess. The rate in the April-June quarter was first put at 503 billion dollars, but is now thought to have topped that by one to two billion.

Revision of the estimate of production in 1959 was raised 2½ billion dollars to 482 billion, and the estimate of national income was increased 1½ billion to 400 billion dollars. By dollar volume, the GNP gain in 1959 was 9 per cent over 1958. Allowing for price rises the gain would have been 7 per cent.

The biggest item in the GNP is personal consumption expenditure, put at 313.8 billion in 1959 and estimated at 323.3 billion in 1960. This spending is for durables such as autos and household appliances, and for clothing and food and for services like medical care and rent.

Government purchases of goods and services was 97 billion dollars in 1959. Business spending for plant and equipment was close to 26 billion dollars. Building up in-

Kennedy Is Shrewd Field General, Well Briefed On Wide Range Of Subjects

Editor's Note — The man who captured the Democratic presidential nomination has convinced friends and foes of his dazzling political craftsmanship.

Now another, tougher test is ahead for John Fitzgerald Kennedy. What qualities of mind and heart will he bring to it? What does the record indicate? What is the full significance of two important issues he carries into the presidential contest—his religion and his age?

These and related questions are exploded in a series of stores by Reiman Morin, AP's double Pulitzer Prize winner who has covered Kennedy both during the pre-convention campaign and during his hours of triumph in Los Angeles.

By REIMAN MORIN
Associated Press
Special Correspondent

Sen. John F. Kennedy looks like the casual man, relaxed, leisurely, the supreme practitioner of the cool sell.

When he is running hardest in a campaign, he seems to be strolling. Making a speech, he is more often thoughtful than fervent. He seldom shows his feelings. They lie behind the boyish grin. Neither personal attacks, campaign setbacks, nor political disappointments ever seem to crack his marble calm.

This is the surface image of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, the Democratic candidate for president.

Not Real Kennedy
It reflects very little of the real Kennedy.

Actually, the senator is a man in a hurry.

Nearly four years ago, before he was 40, he began preparing his drive for the Democratic nomination. He raced around the country like a whirlwind, forever on the go, making speeches, meeting with politicians, exposing himself to potential delegates and voters, lavishing energy on political chores.

Fighter And Driver
He is a fighter, a driver, and a shrewd field general.

When he felt he was set, Kennedy announced early, breaking with tradition. Then he mapped a hard schedule, entering seven presidential primary elections.

Some were calculated risks and some outright gambles — particularly Wisconsin and West Virginia. Again flouting tradition, Kennedy said on the eve of the Wisconsin primary, "This is it. If I lose, I'm out." He won that election and all the others.

He is thorough, meticulous, a man of intense concentration.

Careful Briefing
Kennedy briefs himself carefully on a wide range of subjects. Campaigning, he talked about foreign affairs, rockets, labor-and-management problems, unemployment, insurance, depressed areas and farm problems. One of his most effective speeches was on the challenge to America. In it, he used a statistic about the undernourished. I asked him where he got it. Kennedy turned to an aide, "What's the authority for that figure?" The aide said he would have to look it up. "Yes, get it," Kennedy said. "If I'm going to use the figure, I want to be sure it's right."

He set up a beautifully-engineered organization.

In part, the Kennedy blitz was a product of his smooth-working team of professionals. They overlooked few bets in the tedious, complicated, many-sided labyrinth of politics. Among the principals are Theodore C. Sorenson, Nebraska Protestant, head of the "brain trust"; Pierre Salinger, former California newspaperman, press chief; Steven Smith, the senventories added nearly 6 billion dollars.

Total national income in 1960 is now estimated at 414 billion dollars—no matter how slim your pocketbook may seem.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Some 30 years ago Etta Lee of Los Angeles, then a $200-a-month school teacher, realized that wayward boys need security, guidance, and love. She resolved to establish homes for them. She had ample faith, but little money. Living on less than half her salary, she bought a small home, painted it herself. She sold at a profit, bought a larger one, and so on until she had enough money for her first ranch home for boys—with a Quiet Room where they could pray according to their faith. "I never did anything except on my knees in prayer first," Miss Lee says. As her real estate dealings grew, she established five more ranches—and she also became wealthy. Troublesome boys became responsible young men in Miss Lee's ranches, and now, at 73, she is planning four more of them. "Faith has led us all the way," she says, "but we have put some good honest work with our faith."

Presidential Campaign Will Be Very Explosive

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1960 presidential campaign will be the roughest and toughest in years. It has already started that way.

In his acceptance speech Friday night Sen. John F. Kennedy the Democratic Presidential candidate, could have been strictly noble, leaving the gunplay till later.

Instead, he used the first speech of his campaign to make a savage attack on Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who almost certainly will get the Republican presidential nomination next week.

Deliberate Warning
It was like deliberately warning Nixon he was in for a bad time. Kennedy, who acts cool, is a tough young man as he showed in his determined and successful effort to get the Democratic nomination.

His attack on Nixon was a shocker to newsmen who are used to the antics and tactics of politicians, not because it happened, since that was to be expected some time, but because it happened so early in the campaign.

Nixon himself knows what playing rough means. He has played so rough in the past that some Democrats, and none more than former President Truman, despise him.

Johnson Tough
Then there's Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Kennedy's running mate for the vice presidency. Johnson is no patsey, either. He got rough on Kennedy — some people thought too rough — before the Massachusetts senator beat him for the No. 1 place on the ticket.

Knowing Johnson, as this writer does, it seems safe to say he won't pull any punches, particularly on Nixon, who has given the Democrats such a brawny going over so many times in the past.

Ever since the 1954 congressional campaign, when his tactics left scars which still infuriate the Democrats, Nixon has been a fairly restrained campaigner. The Democrats fear sneeringly to the post-1954 Nixon as the "new Nixon."

No Restraint
It's doubtful Nixon will be able to restrain himself this year if the Democrats go for his throat as Kennedy did when last Friday he spoke of the vice president as sometimes showing "charity toward none and malice for all."

Kennedy said that before Nixon starts dealing in this campaign, someone had "better cut the cards." The fact that Kennedy didn't have to do this kind of thing so early in the campaign, but chose to, is a pretty good indication he will try to chop the Republican candidate to bits.

The Democrats' treatment of Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956 was fairly mild for a campaign. But they had to be careful since Eisenhower was a highly popular war hero.

Lacks Affection
Nixon doesn't enjoy such broad affection if only because, like Kennedy, he didn't have the same wartime distinction.

Some of the ammunition Nixon used against Democrats in the past—by playing on public fear that Communists might be infiltrating the government—has pretty well dried up. Communists-in-government is hardly an issue in 1960.

For instance, in 1954 he said the Communists were fighting hard for an anti-Eisenhower Congress—which could only mean a Democratic Congress—because, he said, many Democratic candidates belonged to a left-wing clique which "tolerated" a Communist conspiracy.

Recess Proposed In Atomic Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials today viewed with reluctance proposals by the Soviet Union and Britain for a recess in the prolonged Geneva talks on an atomic test ban.

The Soviet and the British representatives were reported seeking a recess starting Aug. 15. How long the recess might be was not disclosed.

The three-power conference has been under way since November, 1958, with time out for various recesses, and has made some progress toward an agreement. It is the only negotiation still in progress between the Soviet Union and the United States in the aftermath of the summit conference in May.

STATE WATER TO BE CHECKED

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Sanitary Water Board will start touring eastern Pennsylvania area today to check on water pollution and other problems.

The first stop will be Tamaqua in Schuylkill County. The group will visit Wilkes-Barre, Kingston, Forty-Fort, Dallas, Bethlehem and Riegelsville Thursday and Bristol and Philadelphia Friday.

Dr. Charles L. Wilbur Jr., state health secretary and a board member, said Monday the trip was arranged to see firsthand some areas where there is serious water pollution. The tour also will include a check on sewage treatment plants, he added.

Besides treatment plants, the board will look at coal strip mines and silt lagoons, raw sewage discharges, industrial waste treatment plants at steel and chemical companies and automatic river monitoring stations and water treatment plants.

The group will comprise Wilbur, Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters; Lewis E. Evans, mines secretary; H. R. Stackhouse, acting executive director of the Fish Commission; Dr. M. K. McKay, Pittsburgh; Frank M. Geer, North Warren, and William K. Wetter, Philadelphia.

"Goals relying on faceless statistics or arbitrarily forced rates of growth are built on quicksand," Anderson said, and growth cannot be achieved through a magic formula or "by trying to better percentages instead of people."

Anderson said the Republican party believes "sustained growth and expansion depend primarily on private decisions to save, to invest, to expand, to try out new products and new ideas."

The Cabinet member also dealt with a suggestion by Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, that the Federal Reserve Board gear its policy decisions more closely to the views of a president.

"World history provides numerous examples of disaster resulting from the actions of a politically dominated reserve banking system," Anderson said.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Jimmy Boyd plans to marry a Dallas, Tex., girl July 30.

Boyd said he will wed Yvonne Craig in her home city. Each is 21.

Istanbul, Turkey, formerly was known as Byzantium and Constantinople. It has a population of 1,205,000.

Both Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the apparently sure GOP nominee, and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller have indicated they favor policies designed to spur a faster rate of business expansion.

Like Anderson, they have stressed the role of individual effort and initiative, but the Treasury chief was more emphatic in that respect.

Annual Growth
The Democratic platform calls for an average annual growth rate of 5 per cent—about double the recent average.

Removal of Machine Tax Called Unfair

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Reducing taxes on machinery is unfair because it places the tax burden on the homeowner, says the president of suburban West Mifflin's borough council.

Lawrence J. Richards testified Monday before four state senators and four state assemblymen making up a task force of the Joint State Government Commission.

The group is conducting a series of hearings to determine whether the 1961 session of the State Legislature should amend a 1958 act removing machinery from the tax rolls.

Richards said the gradual reduction in taxes on machinery has financially hurt his community.

"Until the passage of this act, industries always shared part of the burden of municipal expenses," he said. "Now the burden is being put on the small homeowners."

Another witness, Frank T. Trobaugh, representing the Pennsylvania Realtors Assn., claimed "taxes and labor atmosphere" are chasing industry from the Pittsburgh district.

Trobaugh defined machinery as "anything that can be moved." He said that such equipment as cranes — those attached to structures — should be classified as real estate.

Under the 1958 act, taxes on machinery are being cut 20 per cent each year so that by the end of 1962, no machinery at all will be included in real estate assessments.

Congo Plan To Ask Soviet Military Aid "Leaked" As Condition Becomes Worse; 25,000 U.N. Troops Needed

By LYNN HEINZERLING
STANLEYVILLE, The Congo (AP) — The Congo government threatened Sunday night to appeal for Soviet military aid to kick out Belgian troops unless they withdraw within three days.

A minister of Premier Patrice Lumumba's government charged that the United Nations peace task force pouring into the country is incompetent to deal with the situation.

The U.N. Security Council, prodded by the Soviet Union, is expected to meet today to report on implementation of a resolution calling on Belgium to withdraw its troops from The Congo.

Situation Worse
Gen. Henry T. Alexander, British commander of Ghana's army and head of its contribution to the U.N. force, said the situation in the infant African republic had "worsened all over."

Alexander flew from Leopoldville to this picturesque city 775 miles north of the capital Sunday to plant the U.N. flag and confer with Premier Lumumba and President Joseph Kasavubu.

The disclosure that the Congolese leaders were planning to invite the Soviet Union to send troops came from Jacques Lumumba, one of nine secretaries of state in the government and leader of the left-wing faction in the regime.

Lumumba Upbraided
Shocked by the leakage of his government's strategy, Lumumba upbraided Lumumba before newsmen and told him, "I will take the most serious measures against you."

The premier, 34, did not deny the plan, and it was learned reliably his government already has drafted a telegram for sending to Moscow.

The Soviet Union approved the sending of a U.N. task force to restore order in the turbulent Congo but at the same time condemned "imperialist intervention" in the African nation. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev last week promised Congolese leaders "the necessary help which may be required for the victory of your just cause."

Belgians Blamed
Congolese leaders blamed the troubles in the country on the presence of Belgian troops, who showed no signs of withdrawing. Even as Lumumba was conferring Sunday with Gen. Alexander, he got word that five paratroops of Belgian paratroops were dropped into Kindu, about 325 miles south of Stanleyville, to disarm Congolese troops in that river port on the banks of the Lualaba.

Demanding that something be done, Lumumba told the general: "That is a situation created in The Congo by Belgian troops." Actually the disorders commenced and the Belgians intervened when units of the The Congo's army mutinied against their white Belgian officers.

Token Force
Alexander brought only a token force of 20 Ghanaian troops with him. Dressed in British-type uniforms with black berets and carrying rifles they got a smiling reception from Congolese soldiers at the airport. But the Congolese still ran the show.

Alexander flew to Stanleyville after Belgians in Leopoldville had told him they planned to drop paratroops in the city.

The general found Congolese patrols cruising the streets with rifles and machine guns mounted on vehicles, but otherwise the city appeared calm. Tension ran high, however, and white settlers showed fright.

Six-Hour Visit
After a six-hour visit, Alexander returned to Leopoldville, taking with him 17 English men, women and children. Embassy officials said missionaries in the Stanleyville area had decided to stay.

Two Belgian aircraft—a military helicopter and a Harvard escort plane—were reported missing in the Leopoldville area. Each carrying a crew of two, they set out Sunday for Lukala, 80 miles southwest of Leopoldville, to pick up white refugees. Belgian officials suggested they may have been shot down by anti-aircraft guns.

Over the weekend, the U.N. task force in Leopoldville swelled to more than 2,000. Latest arrivals were 300 Ethiopian soldiers wearing American-style helmets and carrying infantry weapons.

U.N. Plans
Plans call for building up the U.N. force to about 6,000 men within two weeks. But a Belgian officer in Leopoldville said about 25,000 would be needed to bring the Congo under control once more.

Africans formed the first contingents to arrive in The Congo, but the U.N. said Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld has asked five non-African countries to supply troops—three European, one Asian, and one Latin American. The U.N. announcement did not name the countries but said big powers were excluded.

Premier Moise Tshombe of rich Katanga Province has warned the U.N. against interference in its affairs. Breaking away from Lumumba's central government, Tshombe sounded out leaders in neighboring Ruanda-Urundi on uniting. Just how he hoped to bring about such a federation was not explained as Ruanda-Urundi is a Belgium-administered trust territory under the United Nations.

A Polish freighter steaming toward the mouth of the Congo River touched a flurry of rumors that it was carrying 300 tons of arms for The Congo government. But later Leopoldville Radio explained the ship's cargo was "part of United Nations aid."

The new U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville said approximately half of the 2,000 Americans in The Congo have been evacuated and most of the others are out of danger.

RED BANK, N. J. (AP) — Howard Reeves, 8, lived with his grandmother, 62-year-old Mrs. Mary Shomo. They had lived together for most of his life and they were like mother and son.

Howard was struck by a car in front of their home Tuesday as his grandmother looked on. Mrs. Shomo had a heart attack.

Howard suffered a broken leg. His grandmother died minutes later.

HARVEST OF PA. PEACHES BEGINNING

HARRISBURG (AP) — Harvesting of Pennsylvania's peach crop is under way in some areas with statewide prospects good for this year's yield, the State Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday.

In its weekly roundup of farm activity, the agency's report added: "Soil moisture is at a desirable level in almost all areas of the Commonwealth."

"Main farm activities during the week were haymaking, cultivating late corn and potatoes, spraying fruit, potatoes, beans and hay for insects, weeding corn, clipping pastures and combining."

"Red sour cherry harvest in the south central counties will continue for another 10 days to two weeks. Early apples, such as Transparent and Lodi, are now available over much of the state with picking gradually progressing farther north. All fruit crops remain relatively free of fungus diseases in spite of weather conditions."

"Many vegetable crops are from one to two weeks behind normal development schedule for lack of sufficient hot weather."

BOWLING FANS CAN PURCHASE NINEPIN DRESS

By JOY MILLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Fashion designers still have a mind of their own.

This reassuring fact became apparent in the first afternoon showings of a week-long display of fall clothes by the New York couturier group for 230 visiting fashion editors.

With the soft, liquid, languid and low-waisted ensemble a shoo-in for dominant silhouette, along came Jane Derby Monday with determinedly controlled oval skirts, Oleg Cassini with figure-hugging sheaths, and the Marquise collection with an almost exclusive preoccupation with leath-er and fur.

Ninepin Silhouette
Mrs. Derby called her outline of rounded, tapered skirt below a narrow bodice "the ninepin silhouette." While it didn't bowl anyone over, it nonetheless was cordially received by the fashion press.

In the Marquise collection, designed by Philippe Tournaye, the animal kingdom was given top billing. Nobody has polled the fur-bearers on their reaction, but there's no denying Tournaye put some little known pelts on the fashion map.

A coat of Australian opossum had a Basque green lining to match its dress. A three-quarter Burgundy greatcoat was lined with Norwegian fox to keep warm the matching nubby wool crepe dress under it. A full-length antelope suede coat was trimmed with fisher. There were white mink ascots and trimmings and stoles of sable, chinchilla and nutria lavished on coats, suits and costumes.

ALLERGIC RATS AID RESEARCH

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Rheumatic rats in a Dallas laboratory may help prove that rheumatoid arthritis is a postponed allergic reaction to factors as yet unknown, Dr. Evelyn Hess said Monday.

She said that arthritis develops in rats as a delayed allergic reaction to protecting products from bacteria.

Delay hypersensitivity — the medical term for the kind of tardy allergic response which gives rheumatism to rats—is now highly suspected as a cause of arthritis in humans, the doctor said.

Dr. Hess is one of 10 researchers on the staff of Dallas's arthritis center at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School and Parkland Memorial Hospital.

She explained that arthritis research was handicapped for a long time because no way was known to produce the disease in experimental animals.

What is the most useful section or feature in the daily newspaper? It's advertising—according to a survey conducted by Dr. George Gallup.

Boy, Five, Is Killed On Amusement Ride

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Robert Amsterdam, 5, of Levittown, was killed Tuesday night when a drive belt apparently snapped while he was riding a miniature whip on the rear of a truck. Police said the whip chairs halted suddenly and threw the boy to the floor of the amusement ride enclosed by a cage.

Two Levittown girls, also on the thrill ride, were injured. They were Donna and Barbara Petraitis, 3 and 5. Both were reported in fair condition in a hospital with head injuries.

COMMUNITIES TO PAY MORE SCHOOL COSTS

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —A greater share of education costs soon will have to be borne by local school districts, says the executive director of Gov. Lawrence's Committee on Education.

Robert A. Christie, addressing a conference of state school administrators here Tuesday night, said financing will be one of the key areas on which the committee will have to develop recommendations for the 1961 Legislature.

He listed curriculum and school district reorganization as other important areas in the study which has been under way for several months.

Noting the state's major role in paying school costs, Christie declared: "The control of education trembles in the balance today. Let each man decide for himself whether state or local control of education is desirable. The level of government that pays the piper sooner or later will call the educational tune."

Turning to curriculum, he said: "Even if the state were to produce the most reasonable, minimum, adequate curriculum program many, if not all, of our school districts would not be able to offer most of the courses prescribed because they don't have a sufficiently broad tax base."

Issue Ruling On Fire Extinguishers

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Revenue Department said Monday school bus fire extinguishers need not have visible pressure gauges.

The department previously had included the requirement in a new regulation which takes effect Sept. 1. The new requirement basically stipulates that extinguishers be of a dry type.

The 1959 Legislature passed a law banning carbon tetrachloride extinguishers in school buses.

SAYS 'DRAFT' IS TOO LATE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Rockefeller draft movement was launched too late to be effective says Arthur T. McGonigle of Reading, unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor in 1958.

McGonigle, a delegate to the GOP national convention next week in Chicago, said he detected a lot of sentiment in the state for the presidential nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon but very little for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

He said to accomplish a draft at the convention, Rockefeller's supporters should have started their campaign much earlier.

McGonigle told a TV news panel (Capitol Correspondents—WTAP) he thought there was "definitely a possibility" Rockefeller would be Nixon's running mate for vice president despite the former's repeated statements he would not accept second spot on the ticket.

He said Rockefeller's attacks on Eisenhower administration policies "might be harmful to the Republican Party" in the fall election campaign.

DEBBIE SEES CHALLENGE IN TV SPECIALS

Editor's Note — Putting together a TV special, Debbie Reynolds discovers, is something of a challenge, especially since it's her first professional dancing chore in quite a while. She tells about in the following guest column, one of a series during AP TV-radio writer Cynthia Lowry's vacation.

By DEBBIE REYNOLDS
Written For The Associated Press

The daring young man on the flying trapeze had an easier time of it, I think, than a daring young woman who takes her first big plunge into television.

It has been exciting and exhilarating, rehearsing and putting together a full-hour special, as I'm doing for ABC-TV. This is the first of three for the network on a one-year basis.

Television is a new challenge and adventure for me. It is the realization of something I've planned for a long time and presents me with the opportunity of making new friends.

Great Fun Too

The new experience has not been without some problems and minor frustrations, such as are apt to arise in any creative venture. But it's also been great fun. Bill Collier's the active producer-director for the hour's entertainment, we hope! The title of our show is "A Date With Debbie," and we hit the air Thursday, Oct. 27.

If will-to-do combined with enthusiasm is the criterion, the 60 minutes should be a real fun show. The rest shown by all concerned continually amazes me.

Rugged Schedule

Take those youngsters Walter Brennan and Charlie Ruggles, for instance. Our writers, Carl Reiner and Joe Stein, wonderfully talented fellows, developed the idea of getting them to join me in a dance routine.

French Move To Fight Alcoholism

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly voted the government power Tuesday to legislate by decree in an effort to control alcoholism. The measure is aimed mainly at giving the Cabinet power in the next four months to limit private distilling of alcohol. The vote was 290-163. The Senate still must give its approval. Premier Michel Debre told the deputies: "Alcohol kills more people than tuberculosis and twice as many as the automobile."

Says Motorists "Shortchanged"

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Dayton P. Clark, chairman of the Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania, says motorists don't get all the highways they pay for. Speaking Tuesday before the Kiwanis Club, Clark said that Pennsylvanians now pay $148,700,000 a year under the 5-cent state gasoline tax.

"But the Highways Department now receives little more than half of this amount," he added. "A half cent of the tax, or about $16,500,000 a year, goes outright to the counties—even though there are now relatively few county roads that have not been brought into the state highway system."

Clark said the department must give at least 30 million dollars of the tax to municipalities and another 30 million plus annually for such mandated programs as highway safety and state police and employees' retirement.

Both old-timers went for the concept with glee, but they had previous commitments. It took some fantastic rearranging to get them together, but they were insistent. In fact, they both spent three days taking dancing lessons before our rehearsals started.

The show will mark her first time in more than three years that I have done any professional dancing, and I'm in training something like an Olympic athlete. I have a rugged schedule of limbering-up exercises every morning before I sit down to breakfast.

ISOLATION OF ANGOLA FAST COMING TO END

By JOSEPH R. L. STERNE
Baltimore Sun Correspondent

LUANDA, Angola (AP)—Under the relentless pressure of African upheaval, the centuries-old isolation of Portuguese Angola is fast coming to an end.

It is being replaced by a new kind of isolation. Instead of obscurity—an obscurity that has made this southwest African territory one of the great unknowns of the continent—Angola is taking on a lonely and unwanted prominence.

Together with Mozambique, its sister Portuguese province on the African east coast, Angola is emerging as the last big stronghold of traditional European colonialism south of the Sahara.

Portuguese Different
"Thus far and no further"—this is the answer to onrushing black nationalism that Portuguese officials repeat here with regularity. They concede that the trend of events seems to be running hard against them. But they contend that the Portuguese are different from the other European colonizers who came to Africa.

Portugal is a dictatorship which stifles political opposition, not only in the overseas provinces but in the mother country as well. Press censorship, a widespread network of informers, and rigid controls on education all discourage the growth of ideas about democracy and self-determination.

Have Thought Control
Africans in Angola and Mozambique have little chance to learn the precepts of liberty which, to the Portuguese way of thinking, undermined British, French and Belgian rule in Africa.

Because of Portugal's cradle-to-grave thought control, observers in many parts of Africa believe that organized black nationalism movements are practically nonexistent in Angola and Mozambique, at least so far.

When the slightest inkling of subversive activities is suspected, the authorities crack down hard.

The Real Threat
The real threat to continued Portuguese rule appears to come from outside, especially from the Leopoldville area where a sizable group of Angolan expatriates will be able to operate openly now that the Congo has black government. They have the support of Patrice Lumumba, new premier of the Congo, and Kwame Nkrumah, president of Ghana.

Another reason for Portuguese confidence is the economic power that Mozambique and Angola exercise over the Congo. Most of the copper and other mineral exports

EXPECT GOP TO TAKE "MIDDLE OF ROAD PATH"

By OVID A. MARTIN
CHICAGO (AP)—Republican platform drafters are obviously partial to a conservative point of view, but the chances are they'll come up with a middle-of-the-road banner for the party to carry in 1960.

The 103-member Resolutions Committee heard speeches by nine political, industrial, economic, and scientific leaders Tuesday. It gave its most enthusiastic reception to those who criticized what they called a trend toward a welfare state. It cheered those who called for a bold cutback in government participation in the economic life of the nation.

The committee will hear other spokesmen today, advocating in some cases more federal spending and in others less federal activity in the economic and public welfare fields.

Sharp Contrast
The committee's reactions Tuesday were in sharp contrast to the way its counterpart at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles greeted its witnesses. The Democrats warmly applauded those urging a bolder government role in the nation's life, and this was reflected in their platform.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona was the darling of the day for the Republican committee members. He is perhaps the party's bitterest critic of government spending and related programs. His introduction drew a standing ovation that included many wild cheers. When he finished he was given another ovation.

By contrast, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York drew a polite reception. He is an advocate of government assistance in some welfare fields and of government efforts to speed the nation's economic growth.

Nixon's Position
Some party leaders said they believed the platform will fall somewhere between the conflicting viewpoints of Goldwater and Rockefeller. They based this on the belief that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable are mined in Katanga Province, in the southeast corner of the Congo. Most travel by rail is across either Angola or Mozambique to the ports of Lobito on the west coast or Beira on the east.

If Portugal should close these rail links, admittedly at great loss to its own economy, the Congo could be quickly brought to its knees.

DELAWARE TO APPEAL U. S. COURT RULE

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware's attorney general indicates he plans to appeal a federal court decision ordering total public school integration by the fall of 1961.

"Since the state board of education, whom I represent, directed the past two attorneys general to carry this matter to the U. S. Supreme Court, I do not anticipate that the board will give me different instructions," said Atty. Gen. Januar Bove.

His statement came Tuesday night some 10 hours after the Court of Appeals for the Third U. S. Circuit in Philadelphia told Delaware its grade-a-year public school integration was too slow.

Total Segregation
The plan, which had been approved by a federal district judge, began last year and would have resulted in total school integration by 1972.

In a 2-1 decision on an appeal by an attorney for 20 Negro youth the court of appeals said Delaware's present plan does not meet the "deliberate speed" requirements of a supreme court order.

Delaware can appeal within 15 days for a rehearing before the full seven-member circuit court that includes Negro Judge William Hastie, or it can appeal within 90 days to the Supreme Court.

Difference In Opinion
Bove said he had not received the opinion. He added that if reports of it "are accurate, then the opinion differs from an opinion of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in the Nashville case where such a grade-a-year plan was approved."

"Further, the U. S. Supreme Court, by failing to entertain an appeal of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court's ruling in the Nashville case, in effect approved it."

Some 46 per cent of Delaware's 77,000 public school pupils attend totally integrated institutions, the bulk of those in the large northern tier city of Wilmington.

The name of Nebraska comes from an Indian word meaning "flat water."

presidential nominee, will urge a middle road.

Goldwater told the committee he is concerned that his party might lose its identity "in a mistaken effort to adopt the tactics and practices of the spend-and-spend, elect-and-elect architects of the New Deal and the Fair Deal."

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, said he would prefer party defeat to adoption of what he called a spending platform.

Pace Concerns Rocky
Rockefeller, on the other hand, expressed concern over what he called the slow pace of the nation's economic growth.

"Stagnation and timidity are alien," he said. "Let us, then, act in economic affairs as in political affairs, with a vigor and a resolve and a confidence worthy of the men who helped America grow toward greatness from the day of the nation's birth."

Missing Bridge Sought In Border

LIMESTONE, Maine (AP)—Police on both sides of the U.S.-Canadian border are looking for a stolen bridge. Town Manager Bernard Cameron asked for help when he discovered that someone had driven off with a small bridge which spanned Limestone Stream only 250 feet from the Maine-New Brunswick border. The bridge, used mostly by a couple of farmers in the area, consisted of a dozen railroad rails and some planks.

IKEDA ALIGNS JAP POLICIES BEHIND WEST

By JAMES CARY

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's new premier, Hayato Ikeda, aligned his government firmly with the Western democracies today. He rejected a foreign policy of neutrality and pledged to work for greater prosperity at home.

In his first news conference since succeeding Premier Nobusuke Kishi, Ikeda also:

1. Criticized Kishi's tactics in winning parliamentary ratification of the controversial U. S.-Japanese security treaty.

2. Proposed interparty meetings to improve relations between his own Liberal-Democratic party and the Socialist opposition.

3. Advocated restoration of normal relations with Red China and more cultural and economic exchange.

change with the Red mainland. "I will not adopt a neutralist policy," he declared. "I will stick to the alliance of the Western free nations."

Treaty Criticism
His criticism of the treaty ratification apparently was aimed at Kishi's summoning of police into Parliament to quell rioting by the Socialists. "The use of violence against violence must be avoided," he said but did not indicate what he would have done.

Ikeda's biggest immediate problem is the labor dispute at the Miike coal mines in southern Kyushu, where rival unions have been involved in frequent bloody clashes. The Sohyo labor federation and the extremist Zengakuren student federation, which played leading roles in barring President Eisenhower from Japan, are seeking to exploit the situation.

STUDY EXPRESSWAY
HARRISBURG (AP)—A federal state study of several months is planned to determine the best route for the Mid-County Expressway in Delaware County.

Park H. Martin, state highways secretary, said Tuesday a decision to undertake the study was made at a recent meeting of representatives from his department and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in Washington.

Honorable Bow Is Taking Beating; Handshake Wins

By KENNETH ISHII
TOKYO (AP)—Teh! Teh! Everyone is going around shaking hands. The honorable bow is taking a beating.

When fellow political bigwigs meet, more often than not, they'll shake hands Western style.

When college student meets college student, businessman meets businessman, it's getting to be the same.

Traditionalists lament this challenge to the bow, meaningful and expressive gesture that has played an important part in regulating Japanese society.

First, The Nod

Let's start with the condescending "nod"—the brief dip of the head plus an ever-so-slight forward body motion from the waist up. It is a greeting for superiors to inferiors.

The boss, for example, will nod to a subordinate who, in turn, will proffer a medium bow if he's not too far outranked, and the deep bow if he's the janitor.

But what if the boss is caught in a deep bow to the janitor? And this can happen.

Self-Abasement Is Key

Then you can be sure the janitor has done the boss a great favor—something like saving his life.

And the janitor will respond with an equally uncomfortable bend—not because he's the janitor, but as a gesture of abasement, as if to say, "It was nothing at all." Self-abasement is an important social virtue among Japanese.

Complicated, you might think, and indeed, more than one uninitiated foreigner has been caught in a deep and reverent bow to his maid.

Some Questions

But the serious bow must ask himself these further questions: How long must I stay bowed? The theory is, the longer the bow the greater the politeness. The practiced low bender will glance out of the corner of his eye to time his rise with that of his partner.

How many times should I bow? Usually, after three or four bows, the parties agree on an unspoken signal to call it quits. But it can also turn into a subtle contest to see who can outbow the other.

More Hygienic Too

How shall I bow so our heads don't bump?

It takes but one error to effectively remedy this fault. The participants usually prepare themselves by facing each other at a slight diagonal.

And there you have it, the complete etiquette of the bow and why it shouldn't bow out to the handshake.

PRISON LEADS SWINDLER TO START STUDIES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—When Bill Sparks went to prison last October for fraudulent conversion his self-image was shattered. He was shocked. He felt dead. He was almost agnostic.

But Monday when the 35-year-old Purple Heart Army veteran came out on parole he was walking "a new road." In his own words he had found a new life in prison.

Bill Sparks was paroled from an 11½-to-23 month sentence to enroll at the Princeton (NJ) Theological Seminary.

Dean's Letter

Dean Elmer G. Homrighausen of the Seminary wrote the court: "This is our first experience with a man with such a background. We are most eager to do everything we possibly can to help Mr. Sparks to rehabilitate himself in society after this trying experience. We are also impressed with his potentialities."

Judge Leo Weinrott commented: "I think that maybe this is one of those storybook tales where shake."

Besides, add the traditionalists, it's much more hygienic.

Secretary Of State Post Becomes National Hot Box

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The second most important job in the government, secretary of state, won't be in the hands of the voters at all when they choose their new president and vice president next November.

There is speculation now that if Sen. John F. Kennedy wins the presidency he will choose between Adlai E. Stevenson and Chester Bowles in naming his secretary. There is not even speculation on who'd be a new Republican president's choice.

But in the next four years — with Russia growing stronger, more daring and more belligerent and Red China's muscles getting bigger day by day — the secretary of state will have a tremendous burden.

Herter To Quit

One thing seems sure. Even if the Republicans win the election, the present secretary, Christian A. Herter, will step out. Herter is an honest man and an earnest one, but during his secretaryship this country has suffered diplomatic disasters.

For instance, there were these American U-2 spy plane downed over Russia, the State Department's bumbling in handling that episode, the blowup of the summit meeting, the cancellation of President Eisenhower's trips to Russia and Japan.

In addition there has been the wretched deterioration in relations with Cuba, the Soviet efforts to get a foot in there, the debacle in the Congo, and the Communist maneuvering to edge into Africa.

Problems To Come

These are probably only samples of problems to come but as yet unimagined.

Handling them will call for someone who has really surmounted a real heavy burden and shows the intestinal fortitude to come through.

Admits Mistake

In an interview today, Sparks freely admitted he had made a mistake. He also explained why he turned to religion.

"I felt the need for something better than the bad times before," he said. "In search of this religion seemed to be the answer."

"But it was gradual. The counseling I received from the Rev. Richard S. Armstrong, pastor of the Oak Lane Presbyterian Church was the thing that made it unfold."

Began To Read

"When I first entered prison I was bitter, depressed, I felt small and unimportant. Mostly because there was nothing else to do I began to read and think. In business you don't have much time to do this."

Sparks will serve as assistant to Rev. Armstrong at the Oak Lane Church on weekends as part of his seminary field work. The church has offered to provide some backing for him, too.

Sparks, who graduated from Temple University in 1950, is married and has two children, William, 5, and Sarah, 6. His wife teaches school in the Princeton area.

He explained that while in the real estate business in 1956 he misappropriated about $50,000 worth of funds based on the intention to repay them. He said he did it because he was ambitious and aggressive. Later, he said, he realized he used poor judgment.

Sparks said he has repaid everything except about $18,000 and he hopes to accomplish that "somehow."

BOYLE WEIGHS FATHER'S JOB RAISING CHILD

By HAL BOYLE
LAKE TARTLETON, N.H. (AP)—Every father remembers the first time he lied for his daughter. She doesn't—but he does.

Well, I came here to appear at a summer arts festival where people on vacation respond to world problems while they simmer and summer under the sun.

Hear At Leisure

They may not solve any problems at the moment, but they hear them at their leisure—and this not a bad way to study any problem. Anxiety often produces premature efforts to a wrong conclusion.

As to my lying, there was a shortage of other children, here, but there was a boy here whose father said his son was "almost 10." And I said my daughter, who is one month beyond 7, was "growing on 8."

Well, that is true, for sure, but it only alerts me to those half-truths which aren't whole truths but which are part of the whole picture which a father must often be presenting the portrait of his daughter.

Box The Calendar

If she would rather be antiquated at 7, and perhaps at 30 presented as 23, it is the function of the father to box the calendar to his daughter's will.

In her own way Tracy made up the distance between her age of 7, and Tommy's almost 10, and she showed that kind of uncanny feminine sense of adjustment that in my opinion represents military genius.

There are those who feel that true military ability consists of getting the other person, without waste of himself, to bend his ability to your purpose and the sustenance of your endeavor. Under this definition the best militarism is a good marriage.

March On Suitor

Well anyway, Tracy, my daughter, made her march on Tommy, and employed her childhood feminine tentacles which later she will fasten to a later fellow and cling to—and the ord help him.

At the present moment I have only a philosophic feeling of help toward my future son-in-law. I feel, being observant to the terrible grasp of my daughter, I should raise a fund for him to run away from home if he isn't content.

Yet my daughter is not without her kindness, now and I hope forever.

The other night, just before our one-week vacation was over, I took her for a walk in these green-templed hills when the evening star lit the eternal meadows of the dark.

Tracy is neighbor to both nature and nurture, and I held her hand till we came to a wishing well on the way home. I gave her three pennies to drop in the well—a coin for her father, her mother, and herself.

"I wished for you and Mommy the same thing—a happy life," she said. "And I wished I would marry a nice boy and have a nice life, too."

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Tuesday sent a secret personal message to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said to call for a concerted new East-West attempt to ease world tension.

Macmillan's surprise appeal accompanied a British government note rejecting Soviet charges that Britain is conspiring with the United States in violating Soviet air space.

WOMEN CATCH BIGGEST TROUT

HARRISBURG (AP)—The disaff side fared best of all this season at Fisherman's Paradise—Centre County strum where the trout really are as big as the anglers say they are.

The State Fish Commission reported Monday that two women made the best catches at the Spring Creek stream during this year's special season from May 13 through July 16.

Catherine Gresh of Spangler caught an 11-pound rainbow trout that measured 30¼ inches. Another woman, whose name wasn't recorded by the commission, landed a 30¼-inch rainbow that weighed 9 pounds, 10 ounces.

The best the men could do was a 30-inch, 10-pound, 10-ounce rainbow pulled in by Paul Hazlett of Altoona.

They were among 28,450 anglers who fished the waters which each year are stocked with large-sized trout and opened for a nine-week period.

The record catch at the site was a 17-pound, 2-ounce brown trout, measuring 30¼ inches, in 1946 by Francis Partch of Johnstown.

Drummer Checks Ft. Knox Safety

FT. KNOX (AP)—Jazz drummer Al Carter, 40, wondered if the 12½ billion dollars in gold stored at the gold vault here was safely stored. So he came to check.

Custodian Albert Evans gave his word of honor the gold was okay, but he wouldn't let the Chicagoan closer than the gate.

Carter has written dozens of letters asking admittance to the vault but has been turned down every time.

His last letter, to Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, explained he didn't "want to bother the President right now because he's busy with Mr. Khrushchev and Mr. Castro."

He asked if Mrs. Eisenhower might bring up the subject to the President when "he is sitting around relaxing some night."

HEALTH IN RHYME TIME

I'm immune to poison ivy. Said the visitor on the farm. That so, said Joe, a country boy. Then what's that rash there on your arm? Because they've never had it. But at any time during life ivy poisoning may hit. Prevention is a simple thing. Recognize those leaflets-three. A wild and irritating weed. When you see it, let it be.

INCOME SKYROCKETS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income of Americans climbed to a record rate of $405,750,000,000 a year last month. The increase was a billion dollars over May.

The Commerce Department reported Monday that total wage and salary payments rose by about 300 million dollars in June despite a decline in factory payrolls due to a slowdown in the steel and automotive industries.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The conflict is broader than usual in the divorce case of the R. Gordon Baus. They can't even agree on where they were married.

Bau, 51, head make-up man at Warner Bros. Studios, filed his suit for divorce Monday, charging cruelty. His wife, Edna, filed

More New Marks At Shenandoah

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — The Shenandoah Downs bonanza finally got out of the five figures Tuesday night when five fans split up the big pool and took home $2,465.60 each. They picked five winners in the last six races. An additional 47 customers in the crowd of 5,571 named four winners to win $89.80 each.

Shenandoah posted another attendance and betting record Tuesday night as the Big Bonanza payoffs continued to lure fans to the night plant. Fans put $263,688 through the machines. Both were highs for a Tuesday night without giveaways.

The night track looks for another midweek mark tonight, with the Starlight Purse at 11:16 miles attracting a field of ten runners. Floyd E. Griffith's King's Flight heads the field.

GIANTS LOAF

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Horace Stoneham says his San Francisco Giants aren't hustling, but he doesn't plan another managerial change this season.

Neither does he think the fifth-place Giants are out of the pennant race.

"Leo Durocher definitely will not be the manager of the San Francisco Giants this year," Stoneham said Tuesday night.

YOUTH BAND TO PLAY HERSHEY

HERSHEY — One of the most unusual and talented musical organizations in the nation, The Newport Youth Band, will make its first appearance at Hershey Park's Starlight Ballroom Saturday. Currently on a tour that is planned to extend the scope of the band to other areas of the United States, this group of talented teenagers is equipped to play a library of approximately 75 arrangements which includes dance music, excellent jazz, and exciting Latin tempos.

Made up of teen-age musicians of the greater New York area, the Newport Youth Band was organized by the Newport Jazz Festival, a nonprofit organization devoted to furthering jazz as a popular American art form. Its director is Marshall Brown, a leading music educator in New York, who formed the band after auditioning over 600 teen-agers to select his 21 youths. Membership in the band has been restricted to teen-age boys and girls, ages 13 to 18. No girls are in the current band but Brown says, "The only qualification is talent. We almost had a girl bass player, but she did not quite make it. I think she might be ready for next year's band, though." Assisting Mr. Brown in rehearsals, held several times a week at the Professional Children's School of New York, are veterans trumpeter Lou Mucci and saxist-composer John LaPorta.
